Part I

We have been manufacturing hydraulic floor tiles and terrazzo items since 1933, forming part of a Mallorcan tradition arising at the end of the 19th century where numerous small factories locally produced these pieces, which were to become particularly popular among architects of the time.

Nowadays we are single-mindedly committed to craftsmanship and to the quality of our products, using creativity as a distinguishing factor while also ensuring that the industry stays true to its values. The pieces stand out because of their natural finish, their sense of craftwork, the clever ageing, and the nobility and elegance of the materials used.
